SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

It is too bad that every man in Truckee did not have the opportunity to hear the message brought before the Truckee Rotary Club Monday night by Walter Mails, renowned baseball player of San Francisco. In clear language, Mails pointed out the necessity for providing the boys of the country with more clean, wholesome sport and for a closer understanding between the boys and adults. The discussion hit close to home in Truckee where we have some of the finest boys in the land, but where nothing in the way of adequate playgrounds or gymnasiums is provided. Nothing is as important to the youth as supervised sports and yet, despite the efforts of a small group to obtain a suitable place for them, nothing definite has been accomplished. This condition is probably not entirely a local problem, but we in Truckee should be concerned with it as such and take steps to give our boys and girls this deserved advantage.

The secret is out. The sanitary board has repaired the old sewer line in the eastern section of town until it is now adequate to handle the situation nicely. A member of the board inadvertently let the report be known recently in an unguarded conversation and we hurry to repeat it, inasmuch as we were a bit pointed in this column recently in declaring that, as far as we had been able to learn, the board had done nothing to remedy the matter. We still contend there is plenty to do, but the fault of the lack of action, we were told, rests not only with the local board, but with county officials who have failed to respond to a number of requests for an opinion of a legal controversy which must be removed before further action can be taken.

Saturday the deer hunting season will open in this district. Already the red hats are in vogue and the echoed sound of rifle shots are heard in all quarters as hunters practice for the great slaughter. Many deer will be killed and many shots will go astray. It is the latter which we warn you to beware of, as they may reach a destination not intended by the hunter. Be sure it's a buck before you shoot and shoot straight and damage will be limited.

Truckee is assured of a fine bit of advertising in Truckee Day at the Exposition on November 27 if we all get together and work to make it a worthwhile event. The chamber of commerce, the Lions Club, the Rotary Club and other organzations have been asked to lend a hand and committees are working to put the program over, but it will take the unified efforts of everyone to make it the success hoped for.

DEER SEASON WILL OPEN SATURDAY

Although the recent storms brought only light showers the forests will be opened to hunters during the season opening Saturday. H. I. Snider, district forest ranger announced.

The current dry season is comparable to that of 1924, Snider said, when hunting areas in the national forests were closed to travel because of the extreme fire hazard conditions.

The cooperation of the hunters is asked by the ranger and every one is asked to be a self appointed fire protection officer.

RECEPTION TONIGHT AT LOCAL CHURCH

The Community Church will hold an all-church social Thursday evening beginning at seven-thirty. E. D English and C. R. A program is being prepared for the evening, and social games will be enjoyed. Light refreshments will also be served. All are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. T. Bonner Expires After Long Illness

Last Rites Held Wednesday At Burlingame For Matron

WAS PIONEER RESIDENT

Deceased Har Lived In This Region More Than 70 Years

Word was received here yesterday telling of the death of Mrs. Lizzie Bonner, who died in a bay hospital following an extended illness Tuesday morning at 5 o'clock. She had been in the hospital since July 26.

Mrs. Bonner was a well known resident of Truckee for many years and before moving here was employed at Hobart Mills where she met her surviving husband, T .L. Bonner of this city. She and Bonner were married in Reno about 25 years ago and came to Truckee where they have since resided.

Mrs. Bonner was 85 years of age and was a native of Maryland, coming with her parents to Virginia City at the age of nine years. There she grew to womanhood and was married to Henry Mausser. She remained in Nevada until the death of her husband.

Besides Bonner, she is survived by a son, Charles Mausser of Burlingame and a daughter, Lillie Monahan of San Francisco and four grandsons and several great-grandchildren. One sister, Mrs. Mary Kemp and a brother, William Grob live in Reno and another brother, Herman Grob resides in Alameda.

Mrs. Bonner was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star in Virginia City and latter affiliated with the Truckee chapter upon coming here in 1915. She was well liked by her neighbors and friends and her death will be greatly regretted.

Funeral services were held n Burlingame yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Eastern Star and cremation followed.

SECOND BEAR HIT BY CAR ON ROAD

Another brown bear is believed to have been killed Sunday night when it was struck by a car driven by Ed. Waters on the Truckee-Brockway road.

Waters did not see the mother bear and the two half-grown cubs in time to avoid the mishap and the wheels of the heavy machine passed over the body of one of the cubs. The driver came on to Truckee and accompanied by Vernon Nelson returned to the scene but was unable to find the animal. It is thought the mother may have carried the infant away from the road.

Two weeks ago a full grown bear was killed by a truck near Big Chief Camp on the Tahoe highway.

Company Starts Work AT Independence Dam

A new dam and outlet channel for additional storage of water at Independence Lake in this county has been started by the Sierra Pacific Power Company with $85,000 to be spent in the construction.

Concrete outlet gates will be installed and the height of the dam increased. The new channel will be placed back from the present outlet and will be continued downstream for about 3000 feet.

BAY COUPLE HAVE NARROW ESCAPE IN CAR ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Newal of Alameda escaped serious injury when their car skidded on the highway on the Truckee-Tahoe road yesterday afternoon, turned over and held on the bank ten feet down from the road and with the river below.

Patrolman F. E. Walker investigated the accident and Dr. C. B. Pedersen treated Mrs. Newal for lacerations about the head.

Deer unters will find all outing equipment available in local stores.

RELATIVES OF MAN KILLED IN ROBBERY ATTEMPT LOCATED

The efforts of L. R. Jefford to find relatives of the man shot to death while engaged in a robbery effort at the Fox Farm Service Station, near Soda Springs, Agust 20, 1938, were rewarded recently and the body of the man known as Nick Couri or Corey was examined and shipped to Mr. and Mrs. George Palinchak, Sr., in the state of Ohio.

Former Coroner L. R. Jefford sought unsuccessfully for two weeks after the robbery attempt and slaying to locate relatives of the dead man. Burial was then made at the county expense.

At the time of the shooting, the man was unknown.

Last December, while vacationing in Columbus, Ohio, with his family, the former coroner continued his search through official Ohio circles and was able to locate the family he sought. Insurance companies, which were interested, were called in and identification was made beyond a shadow of doubt as that of George Palinchak, Jr.

Last Sunday a brother of the slain man arrved in Grass Valley to arrange for the exhuming of the body and the shipping of the remains to Ohio for burial in the family plot of that state. The body was shipped by the Jefford firm.

From information gathered during the search, the man came of a highly respected family of an Ohio city. He held home town respect and admiration. It was later that circumstances apparently dictated his steps into criminal ways under the aliases of Couri and Corey.

Carl Zamloch,, former famous base ball player and manager of the Oakland Pacific Coast League club, entertained with tricks of magic. The program chairman was Assemblman Allen G. Thurman.

WEEPING TREES AT TAHOE CAUSE TALK

TAHOE CITY, Sept. 14.— Worthy mention this week is the unusual behavior of Tahoe's firs and cottonwood trees, many of which are actualy weeping copiously this season. The old timers say they have never before witnessed the sight. Dr. C. B. Pedersen, an authority on Tahoe trees and botany, gives us the explanation of the enigma. The sticky, sweet fluid, called by some honeydew, is provided by nature to seal the pores of the leaves or needles on the tree during extremely dry weather in order to retain the sap and moisture within the tree.

BOATHOUSE DAMAGED

RENO, Sept. 14.— Fire damaged the inside of the George Whittell boathouse at Sand Harbor, Lake Tahoe, forest service officials reported. Two men were slightly burned. No boats were damaged.

Shasta Visitors—

Plans Started For Local Day At Exposition

Program Arranged By Group Attracts Attention In Truckee

SEEKING COOPERATION

Date For Truckee Day Set For November 27 At Fair

Truckee may have a day at the San Francisco Exposition.

According to word received by C. B. White, president of the Truckee Chamber of Commerce, Truckee has been invited to be guests of the Golden Gate International Exposition on November 27.

Appreciating the great amount of advertising to be gained from the affair, if it becomes a reality, White is soliciting the coopertaion of the local civic organizations to work with the chamber of commerce to bring about sufficient interest to assure success for the day.

A detailed program for the day, tentatively arranged by the fair board has been received by White and it is worthy of consideration. This program has received the approval of the Truckee Rotary Club and Truckee Lions Club and committees have been appointed from the three separate organizations to work together toward a common end.

Special features are outlined including participation in many events on Treasure Island by Truckee's representatives.

DRIVER IS FOUND GUILTY BY JURY IN LOCAL COURT

John A. Corn of Winnemucca paid a fine of $50 before Justice of the Peace C. E. Smith yesterday after he had been found guilty of driving on the wrong side of the highway near Floriston on July 20 causing injuries to John Moro of Truckee.

Corn previously entered a plea of not guilty and demanded a jury trial.

The jury, of which C. Edmunds was foreman, deliberated two hours before reaching the verdict. District Attorney Vernon Stoll handled the prosecution while a Reno lawyer represented the defendant.

Navy Seeks Enlistment As Quota Is Doubled

As a result of the Navy Department's decision to authorize the enlistment in September of 3300 apprentice seamen throughout the United States, the normal enlistment quota for Northern California has been doubled.

Commander F. L. Worden, U. S. Navy, Officer in charge of the Navy's San Francisco recruiting district announced today that one hundred young men from the preferred waiting list have been instructed to report immediately to the San Francisco recruiting station for final physical examination and enlistment.

The majority of the men called are High School graduates as it is the policy to urge all men to finish High School if possible before applying for enlistment.

Plans Going Forward For Sciots Grid Game

Sacramento, Sept. 4—With already over 1,000 men slated to take part in the Sciot's Pageantry during the University of South Dakota—College of Pacific intersectional football game to be played here on September 23, the Sacramento Pyramid of Sciots went ahead today to secure more participants.

Under the direction of Lem Carter, Supreme Pyramid Scenic Director, the pageant will be a most spectacular and colorful one. Carter, with 35 years of stage and movie studio experience is the best man in Northern California for handling this type of work, which calls for colored kleig lights and other types of lighting effects to blend in and give a very beautiful effect.

FIREMEN TO HAVE ANNUAL DANCE ON HALLOWE'EN EVE

Plans for their annual Hallowe'en dance were made at a meeting of the Truckee Volunteer Fire Department Tuesday night. Lieutenant Elden Tonini was named by Chief N. F. Dolley to head the arrangements committee and a good time is promised for the event.

Four new members, Paul Losey, Verne Mattson, Larry Zoebel and Lec Cardinal were taken into the organization to bring the roster to the 20-member capacity.

It was voted to place 10-foot colored pipes at the various fire plugs in Truckee so they can be more readily found in the snow this winter.

WALTER MAILS IS SPEAKER AT MEET OF ROTARY CLUB

Speaking in behalf of organized baseball and urging more support in providing playgrounds and other facilities for the wholesome development of boys, especially, of the smaller communities, Walter Mails, for many years an outstanding figure in major baseball circles, Monday night addressed a meeting of the Truckee Rotary Club.

Mails cited baseball as one of the major sports which is clean and at which no one can point a finger of scorn. There are no pardons or paroles in baseball, he declared, once a player, manager or owner has been found guilty of shady dealings he is out for keeps.

"There is one great lesson which we all learn from baseball," Mails declared, "a quiter never wins and a winner never quits."

He cited examples of what baseball has done for the American youth in tracing it through its 100 years of gaining popularity and called attention to the need for closer cooperation between men and boys to develop better citizens.

A forceful speaker, Mails held the attention of the large number of members and guests who attended.

Verne Pearson, Southern Pacific roadmaster and recently elected president of the club, presided and introduced the guests who included the president and secretary of the Reno Rotary.

LEGION MEETING TO BE HELD HERE ON SATURDAY NIGHT

All posts in Nevada and Placer counties are slated to be represented and a dinner will precede the business session. All local Legionnaires are urged to attend the session to make the affair a success.

Tahoe Vista Woman Honored With Shower

Friends of Mrs. Thomas Kyncy of Tahoe Vista tendered her a shower recently and a very pleasant afternoon was spent. Mrs. Kyncy was in Truckee during the preparation of her home for the surprise and upon her return was greeted by her friends and neighbors.

The afternoon was spent in playing games and the latter part of the afternoon a nice lunch was served to all present and the opening of the gifts were the most important part of the whole afternoon.

The followng ladies were present: Mesdames A. E. Sorenson, E. Crawford, Fred Baker, James Manderville Peterson, John Clayson, Carl Sorensen, R. Fisher, Minnie Tarwater and the Misses Edith Tarwater and E. McClure.

IT pays dividends to buy in Truckee.

Winter Sports Plans Made At Chamber Meet

Local Men Seek Permission To Operate Local Grounds

SECOND BID RECEIVED

Cooperation Sought by Lake Group In Repairing Highway

First steps toward providing Truckee with a worthwhile winter sports program for the coming season were taken at a meeting of the chamber of commerce Monday when Earl Edmunds and Stanford Gregory appeared before the civic body to ask permission to operate the concessions for a period of years.

The two local men expressed a desire to operate the rink, pavilion and other facilities on a commercial basis, entirely separate from the chamber of commerce or other organizations.

While the chamber is powerless to give authority to anyone to take over the facilities, a plan is being worked out whereby it is hoped the partners, who successfully conducted the sports here last winter, may continue.

In the meantime, word is received that a Los Angeles man, desirious of locating in a winter sports center, is inquiring about the possibilities of securing the Truckee grounds and equipment.

A committee headed by E. Edmunds appointed by President C. B. White to work out a means of disposing of the rights and equipment as it became quite evident last year that the merchants and others in Truckee did not wish to support a community project.

Asks Road Support

George Seymour of Brockway appeared before the chamber to urge local support for a plan to have the state highway department include the Brockway-Truckee cutoff in the secondary state highway system. Petitons are being circulated, Seymour declared, urging such action.

However, it was pointed out that the state at the present time is not in a position to absorb more roads and the secretary, Mrs. Lotta Bryant, was instructed to write to the federal division of forestry asking what proceedure is necessary to have the road repaired and maintained as a federal forestry highway similar to the Sierraville route.

Edmunds, Frank Powell and C. E. Smith were named to work on a Truckee Day at the San Francisco Golden Gate Exposition for November 27th. Details of a program were read by President White who is supporting the program.

WOMAN HURT IN CAR EXPIRES IN RENO

Funeral services were held in Reno, Nevada, last Saturday for Mrs. Marie Fredenberg, 52, who died as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident west of Donner Summit, near the Cisco Grove store on the previous Sunday, when the car driven by her husband, C. A. Fredenberg, 61, crashed into a tree at that point.

The couple who were residents of Oakland and formerly of Reno, Nevada, were rushed to the hospital there, Mrs. Fredenberg succumbing Wednesday night following an emergency operation for internal injuries.

All members are requested to attend and those planning to do so are asked to communicate with Mrs. Laurence Zoebel for questions of transportation and other details of the proposed trip.

C. Alex Clements of Sacramento was a Truckee business visitor on Tuesday.

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

Washington doesn't, as some may surmise, merely hum and drowse and swat flies between sessions of Congress. A great deal of important activity is taking place these days on the banks of the sluggish Potomac.

Late summer and early fall activity at the national capital might be conveniently divided into two general classifications. The first of these might be called the 'fireworks.' That's the news that goes off with a big bang and thick, black, inky headlines. Into this group would probably go much of the governmental hard work that results from the present jangled state of European nerves, work that has kept State Department windows ablaze with light many a night lately. Also included here would be the investigations of the Dies Committee aiming to show the identity that exists among all the foreign "isms" and making it clear that all of them are equal menaces to our free American institutions—religious and civil freedom, representative democracy, and the system of private enterprise.

The second classification of Washington activity would include news of a non-pyrotechnical variety. It doesn't set people to shouting in the streets, but its frequently every bit as important to the welfare of the individual American as the stuff that makes the front pages.

An example of this latter class occurred just the other day when the Treasury Department issued a bulletin that trained observers immediately recognized as important for a number of reasons. The bulletin was the first part of a comprehensive study of Federal, state and local fiscal operations which is projected by the Treasury as the first step towards finding out what tax reforms are most necessary to the country.

The fact that Secretary Morgenthau's department is laying the groundwork for a better and sounder tax structure is, of course, cheering news. But the momentary impression, as one reads the present report and tries to make the figures come alive, is naturally one of gloom. "Naturally" is the inevitable word, for the bulletin shows all too forcibly the treacherous character of the swamp into which heavy spending and the theories back of it have led this country and its taxpayers.

And, incidentally, almost all of us are taxpayers, including the one out of four in this country who answered a Gallup poll by solemnly declaring that they pay no taxes.

Perhaps the point that first hits the eye in the Treasury report is the fact that in the past six years the tax revenues of all governments in this country have increased 79.6%, from about 8¼ billion dollars to well over 14⅝ billions. That means an average tax burden of about $114 for every man, woman and child in the United States, which brings the load for a typical family to $456.

There might, of course, be a ray of sunshine even in the prospect of so heavy a tax on the individual family of the high rates were made necessary by a real drive to bring the budget into balance and start the hard work of paring down the national debt. But with the estimators holding that 1939 governmental expenditures are going to exceed 2 billion dollars over last year's, even that ray seems pale and ineffectual.

One other point brought out by the Treasury figures deserves the attention of all of us. This particular information is contained in a chart which breaks down last year's spending according to the various governmental functions. The largest single item—over three billion dollars—goes for relief, welfare and social security and serves to emphasize that the first problem to be solved if we are to have a reasonable fiscal situation is that of giving business encouragement so that it can go forward with the expansion that means jobs and more payrolls.

The next two items are expenses which no citizen begrudges paying—governmental outlay for education and for streets and highways. But the fourth largest item is another sore thumb; it totals $1,639,000,000 and goes to pay interest on the government debt.

The "interest" item is the one to watch, for it represents the amount that the government must pay on the line to keep its credit good. It's the valve that serves to indicate when the debt limit is boiling dangerously high. And the present Treasury report shows the mercury far, far up with no present sign of coming down.

As mentioned before, the facts and figures are a bitter and oversized pill to swallow. But the very fact that the Treasury Department is making an effort to determine the extent and nature of the whole fiscal problem lies the most heartening sign along this particular line in a long time. It may mean that next session Congress and the Treasury, working together, can really start out to reduce what one wit aptly called "the lieing tower" of government taxing and spending.

MAYBE JOE IS RIGHT

The average American has the reputation in some circles of being too cocky—of thinking he's a lot more important than he really is when you consider his position in the general scheme of things.

Joe Z., who comes as close to being the average American himself, has his opinion on this particular subject. Let's listen in on Joe for a minute:

"So you think I take myself too seriously? You think my job, for instance, isn't important enough to justify my acting this way.?

"Well maybe you're right. I said maybe. Of course I don't have the best job in the plant. But what I do is important just the same. Here's the way I look at it.

"I've got a job, a self-respecting one that means I can support my family and that means I have chances of getting a better job if I have the stuff. And it's a job in the United States of America. Makes a man feel important just to be an American these days—to know his position in life doesn't depend on his race or creed or the way he wears his necktie. We Americans have the shortest hours and the highest pay for what we do in the whole world, and we buy the best products in the world with the money we earn. We know how good those products are; you and I provide the skill that makes them.

"Why shouldn't I feel important? I'm an American workman, ain't I?"

Maybe Joe Z. has an idea there that's worth remembering!

WHAT'S A DEMOCRAT, ANYHOW?

The time was not so many years ago when Democratic orators and editors got a lot of satisfaction out of asking" What is a Republican?" At the time the GOP was the majority party and had many discordant elements. The Democrats cited Uncle Joe Cannon, Boies Penrose and Senator Smoot as conservative Republicans and then tried to reconcile men like Senators Noriss, Brookhart and LaFollette to the G. O. P. Time has wrought many changes. Norris is an independent. LaFollette is a Progressive, although he is flirting with the resurgent Republicans, Brookhart is finished in the field politic. Smoot has retired and the others have gone to their rewards. The Republicans are the minority and have become fairly solid to all appearances.

But now the Democrats are having their troubles. The question is out "Just what is a Democrat?" Is the President, creator of the New Deal, a Democrat? Are ex Republicans Harold Ickes and Henry Wallace Democrats? If so, what are such men as Senators Glass, George, Byrd, Burke and a sizable bloc of others who have lost faith in the New Deal? And John Garner, is he a Democrat? Then what are Tom Corcoran and Benjamin Cohen?

Just what is a Democrat these days? The President declares that a Democrat cannot be a conservative or even a "straddlebug." How do Senators Tydings and Smith feel about it? Probably no one will know until the national convention next year.

VEILED FALLS OF PILMAIQUEN

WATERFALLS have always fascinated man. Some, like Niagara Falls, take your breath away with their sheer majesty, others capture your heart by the delicacy of their beauty. In this latter group are found Pilmaiquen Falls, located in the southern lake region of Chile. Like these two enraptured young ladies above, many American tourists visiting Chile's famed lake region have found these falls one of the most exquisite sights along the route.

The Chilenos call them the "Salto Velado de Pilmaiquen"—the Veiled Falls of Pilmaiquen. The falls are about twenty-five miles from the quaint Chilean town of Osorno, which nestles in the shadow of the volcano Osorno. They owe their nickname to the richness of the vegetation growing along the shores of the Pilmaiquen River.

The foliage is so luxurious that the river is completely lost from sight, and the falls seem to be tumbling right out of the dense, vividly green foliage and to disappear again into equally virgin vegetation leaving behind a white misty veil.

EVERY HUNTER TO TAKE PLEDGE TO PREVENT FIRES

NEVADA CITY, Sept. 14.— Every deer hunter a volunteer fire prevention officer.

This is the dual role every stalker of the wary buck will fill this season, forestry officials hope. With a continuance of the abnormally dry season and frequent occurrences of fires, sportsmen in the vicinity of the Tahoe National Park began to ask: "Are you going to close the forest to hunting?" DeWitt Nelson—'Swede' to his friends—supervisor of the forest never shot a deer in his life; but he is human and realized how thousands of sportsmen were looking forward to their "big week" and what a disappointment it was going to be in it was denied them. "They are human too," he opined, "and maybe if they can be made to realize the great danger in fire, they can have their hunt in the woods and at the same time be cooperators in conservation instead of being outside looking in."

He first broached his idea at a dinner of sportsmen and conservationists at Auburn. He told how while fishermen were responisble for more fires numerically each year than hunters, the fisherman was in the forest six months, the hunter only one month and, statistics show the hunter comparatively to be the greater risk.

"That doesn't mean you intend to start fires," he said, "but just that some of you don't realize the extreme precautions necessary at this time of the year. We certainly can't take chances this year. Too much natural wealth is at stake. If I leave the forest open this season, will all of you pledge yourselves to be allies in fire prevention?"

"We will," they said.

Nelson then went to San Francisco and laid his proposition before his superiors. It found favor and in a national broadcast, George M. Gowen, chief of fire control for the California region said that pledge cards, bearing the emblem of the Federal forest service and the state division of forestry would be passed out to hunters and other forest users.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. McDonald of Woodland returned to their home last Sunday after a stay at their summer cottage in the Timberline Tract.

The high school student body election was held recently and Billy Bechdolt was made the president; Jay Stark, vice president; Ray Barton, treasurer and Patsy Henry, secretary.

Many deer have been killed by cars in the Tahoe region, but the supply does not appear to exceed that of other recent years. The dry weather and shortage of water have driven the animals to the lower lands where feeding is better. At Tahoe Pines deer each night drink from the stone fountain in the Droste yard, their hoofprints being plainly visible in the mornings.

Frank H. Slater of Tahoe Tavern and Zephyr Cove stables, Chet Roberts of Meeks Bay stables, Bob Scates of Tahoe City and Bill LaMarr, local gamewarden, all report deer plentiful in the back country, more plentiful in fact than in many recent years.

Midget Bass Stalls Giant Locomotive In Roseville

ROSEVILLE— Unless the song has been taken out of circulation—and it should be—every time Ulmot Bell, Southern Pacific mechanic here, hears "Three Little Fishes" he will be reminded of his experience in the local shops.

A midget balck bass, only 27-32nds of an inch in length, was taken out of the strainer box of the water feed line on a mallet engine. Small as it was, the fish was big enough to send the great mountain type engine to the shops and Bell had to use an acetylene torch to clear the water line.

The fish apparently was taken into the tender at some mounttain point between Reno and Roseville.

Politically Speaking

by JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 14 —(UP)— Governor Olson made one of his best speeches and created more good will for himself than probably any other appearance this year when he greeted visiting newspaper editors at the state fair.

The governor would be very naive if he did not realize he had alienated himself with most members of the fourth estate since becoming governor. His press relations during the early weeks were so poor that publicist George Killion was imported to straighten out the mess.

Most of the elitors at the fair wondered what tactics Olson would use in his speech. Most of them came away pleasantly surprised. Olson ended his talk with a plea for cooperation in working out the state's problems and recognized that the newspapers of the nation are a powerful force.

Nowhere in his extemporaneous talk did he show any rancor or unpleasantness. The rather funereal beginning of the luncheon ended with a happier note.

Another shift in the changing personnel of the Democrtaic administration saw Walter Ballou appointed assistant secretary to the governor at $5,000 per year. Ballou recently resigned as administrtaive assistant to state relief administrator H. Dewey Anderson in the acriminous days following Anderson's resignation. His addition to the governor's staff appears to be Olson's answer to the charges that Ballou was merely in the SRA to dispense patronage.

The signals must be mixed up somewhere along the line anent a suggestion that the state gas tax be upped two cents. Chairman Larry Barrett of the state highway commission, an Olson appointee, first broached the proposition. He cited the need for better highways and pointed to the inability of the commission to take care of all worthwhile projects in the state on the three-cent tax now paid by the motorist on every gallon he puts in the tank.

The suggestion of a 5-cent tax never a popular theme, brought quick response from Director of Public Works Frank W. Clark. He explained that the Olson administration is opposed to a gas tax boost in the following terse words:

"Mr. Barrett's announcement is only his personal opinion and does not reflect the attitude of Gov. Olson or myself. There is no question that additional funds could be used advantageously on highways and bridge construction and maintainence but we do not feel that an attempt at this time would prove popular or advisable."

Leaving aside the political aspects of an increased gas tax, the undenied benefits of better roads hardly outweigh the thought of paying practically one-third of the cost of gasoline in taxation. For every ten gallons the state would get 50 cents, certainly one of the highest taxes on the books

California is blessed with some of the best roads in the nation already and previous highway commissions have done a judicious job of spreading available on needed projects.

Various suggestions and predictions about the special relief session of the legislature resolve down into Governor Olson's own statement that unless there is a distinct emergency, he will not call the solons before the first of the year. Toward the close of January would be as good a guess as any. That will give the lawmakers their first paychecks from the state since the straved overtime session ending in June.

Olson stated that the month of October would give a good indication of the probable unemployment relief load for the coming winter and give time for studying the proposed production for use projects being started by the SRA.

PREDICTION OF THE WEEK: That the war emergency will cancel President Roosevelt's proposed trip to the Pacific coast in October.
